

DMS Active - The new Internet based dictation service from SPS

no contract
no installation
no boundaries
no limitations
no problem...

...It's now time to say 'YES' to the UK's first Internet hosted digital dictation management service.

DMS Active - ISP accounts are ideal for clients looking for a cost effective, scalable, maintenance free end-to-end dictation and transcription solution. It is the UK's first Internet dictation workflow solution offering customers new ways of creating and accessing dictations without any limitations or boundaries.

DMS Active

No high set up costs - DMS Active accounts are offered a pay-as-you-go model, so eliminating the need for major capital investment.

No installation - SPS maintains all of the needed hardware, software installation and set-up, as well as maintenance, back ups, updates and full support for the DMS Active system.

No complications - for your in-house IT staff as the system is automatically updated with any new software releases, making the system future proof.

No restrictions - DMS Active allows the Author to work effectively from home, the office or anywhere. As the system is Internet based, dictations can be uploaded onto your secure DMS Active account and accessed securely by the transcriber of your choice.

No boundaries - DMS Active accounts are available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, so the boundaries of the existing dictation or transcription legacy systems are removed.

No limits - With a DMS Active account the possibilities are endless. DMS Active accounts support dictations created by all leading manufacturers dictation input devices and SPS's leading edge digital solutions for Windows smart phone and PDA. For customers that require outsourcing services, all DMS Active accounts are enabled with a SPS transcription service pay-as-you-go account allowing you to call on extra transcription resources if the need arises.

No catch - For customers that don't have or are too busy to acquire the expertise required to install and maintain an in house dictation system DMS Active offers you the perfect solution. Its time to say YES to DMS Active.
